The problems of Grey Literature & Practical Archaeology for Independents, How, When, Where

(Grey Literature, Community Archaeology, Modern techniques & Professional collaboration)

- You do not need to be a member of the CIA. The Conference is open to all interested archaeologists - amateur, professional or student.
- We will start on Saturday 6th September at 9:30 a.m. with registration, followed by the AGM of the CIA (all welcome).
- The Conference talks will start at 10:30 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m.
- Refreshments for delegates will be available throughout the Conference - buffet lunch is included.

The Wallingford Historical & Archaeological Society (TWHAS for short www.twhas.org.uk/) was founded in 1973, initially in response to an appeal by Oxfordshire archaeologists for local people to keep a watching brief on development in the town. (No statutory protection for archaeological access in those days.)

A well-attended public meeting decided to broaden the new Society's brief to include history and the desire to link documentary research with archaeological investigation. It has always been, and continues to be, a fundamental concept in Wallingford's approach to research.
